

The heart of leadership is character. Our character must be that of a servant leader, not a self-serving leader. Servant leaders see God as the One we worship and the source of our self-worth. We will serve through humility and God-grounded confidence.

Above all else, guard your heart, for it is the wellspring of life.
~ Proverbs 4:23

My concern for leaders, families, and congregations is that too often we lead out of pride or fear. Leadership is not for the faint of heart. Leaders need a network of counselors and mentors for advise and wisdom. We do not have to do this alone.

The Leader Lab will provide support as we strengthen our character as a leader. If you want to predict one's success as a leader, evaluate not their skills but their leadership character.

Clarity is the preoccupation of the effective leader. If you do nothing else as a leader, be clear.

~Marcus Buckingham

Will Mancini says that being clear as a leader means being simple, understandable, and exact. It means being free from anything that obscures, blocks, pollutes or darkens your vision and pathway.

The Leader Lab will provide personal support as you seek to uncover clarity in your personal, family, and professional life. Through the Scriptures, personal reflection and analysis, you will determine where you have a blurred or distorted vision.. Then, you will set personal goals to live your clear vision.

We were meant to live for so much more...maybe we've been living with our eyes half open.

~Switchfoot, Meant to Live

Competency

A commitment unwritten is nothing more than a nice intention.

~ Gene Wood

Competent leaders have healthy habits, courageous faith, clear direction, deliberate systems, emotional stability, a humble spirit, and a servant heart. Serving with a team is the heart of leadership... competent leaders think of others first.

To implement a clear plan effectively and efficiently the leader is required to focus the use his gifts and skills on the task under the power of the Holy Spirit.

And David shepherded them with integrity of heart; with skillful hands he led them.

~ Psalm 78:72

The Leader Lab goal is to help you become a remarkable leader by unleashing the leadership potential that is already within you.
